THE DIARY OF A SENIOR

September, 1929: Well here I am in high school at last! Sure thought I'd never get here, but it's a swell feeling even if we are laughed at and called green by the others. But just wait and see, we will show them whether we're green or not.

A lot of others who came over last January have gained a little on us.

January, 1930: I feel like I have been in high school for years. We sure have some class. We're in the band, orchestra, and the operetta. I even played basketball.

September, 1930: Well here I am starting my second year in high school and do I feel big. Our class advisor this year is Mr. Mallory.

January, 1931: The Girls' Athletic Association was organized this year and several members of the class have joined this organization. They can't call us green any more.

September, 1931: I have just entered my third year in the dear old Alma Mater and found that I had quite a few more responsibilities upon my shoulders than last year. Our class sponsors this year are Miss Dufendach and Mr. Martin. We have elected our class officers for this year and the main event is just about here, for we have ordered our class jackets.

January, 1932: I finally received my jacket, and is it bright! Now I am looking forward to the Junior-Senior reception, another outstanding event for my junior year.

The Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y were organized last semester with several of my classmates taking an active part.

September, 1932: Well here I am bearing the title of a "Dignified Senior", proud, and how! We have just elected our class officers for this year and they are Glenn Songer, President; Charles Finke, Vice-President; Lorraine Stein, Secretary; and Hubertina Schepers, Treasurer; with Miss Mollet and Mr. Parker acting as class advisors.

Our class rings have been purchased and I am waiting eagerly for mine.

April, 1933: After rejecting the overall proposal for the reception, we decided to come in our school suits and dresses. It's the depression.

May, 1933: Our play, "THE THREE GRACES", was quite a hit. Now it's just a few days 'till Commencement. Wonder what I'll do—get a job? Any way diary, I'll have to close you for a while.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1933, being of sound mind and body, do make public and declare the following as and for our last will and testament. That is to say—

Section I, Article I: To the faculty we leave our many thanks for their guidance and our deep regrets that there will never again be so versatile and talented a class.

Article II: To the student body we leave all our places in the school organizations, our seats in the upper assembly, such knowledge as we do not take with us, and everything else we do not want.

Article III: To next year's athletes we bequeath our deepest sympathy if Coach Bretz will not allow them fruit, especially dates.

Section II: To our sorrowing fellow students mourning our departure we bequeath the following, each Senior making his gift:

Evelyn DeBruler's school girl complexion to the users of Palmolive.

Adolph Frick's knowledge of agricultural arts to John Lett.

Cecil Enlow's fifth year in H. H. S. to any one who needs it.

Ray Blemker's platinum locks to Coach Bretz.

Hubertina Schepers' place as a perpetual class officer to Carolyn Lukemeyer.

Sam Faris' place in Schmett's car to Shirley Koch.

Franklin Mundy's knowledge of other people's affairs to the other people.

Mary Louise's ability to forget the 8:20 deadline to Nadine Finke, who comes too early.

Victor Peter's interesting alibis to any one with unprepared lessons.

Ambrose Steltenpohl's trumpet to Gabriel (when he gets there).

Twenty-five cents from Davis Enlow's pocketbook (if he has that much) to Elmer Lemond for a bottle of Stacomb.

Roy Blemker's steadiness to the Freshmen, who certainly need it.

Harold Schmutzler's favorite pipe to Lefty Olinger, who can then look like Sherlock Holmes.

Fred Limp's curly hair to all those adoring young ladies.

Lee Lemond's ability as a Romeo to Wilfred Maas.

Gladys Rohleder's bored expression to Ernest Bolte, who will then have two.

Delores Parks' ability to "get her man" to any wishing such.

Mildred Miller's knickers to Edna Reese, providing she agrees to wear them on Sunday.

Eunice Hamelman will leave nothing, as she says she is Scotch.

Geneva Langebrake's belongings to her sister, to keep things in the family.

Wilma Brown's battered text books to Ralph Martin, who will then burn them up, along with his own.

Roma Garland's dream of a Prince Charming with a Packard to Helen Mae Lindley.

Alice Knapp's jig-saw puzzles to the gang at the Palace.

Pauline Aufderhar's ability to talk about anything but the lesson in class to Louella Katterhenry.

R. F. McDaniel's poetry to Beechie for Louella.

Loraine Stein's retiring manner to Grant Link, as we're sure he will use it.

Kenneth Brown's crooning to Bob Shurig.

Herman Steltenpohl's bass drum to Dorothy Menke, who wants two to carry.

Lucille Dearing is keeping her sewing ability for her trousseau.

Glenn Arensman's nonchalant manner to Bill Nelson, who will then be a complete man about town.

Bernice Short's Bennie to no one, as she is too proud of him.

Kent Patberg's naps in class to his brother, who won't know what to do with them.

Sam Beebe's ruined mechanical drawing plates to Henry Neuman.

Harold Barth's major league possibilities to Bob Whitten.

Edwin Recker's position as Einstein's understudy to James Stone.

Kenneth Day's ability to get by without studying to Mildred Dearing.

Geneva Struckman's soprano voice to the faculty chorus.

Odean Rickleman's faithfulness to Herbie, who deserves it.

Ben Finke's height to Mildred Underwood.

Catherine Kellams' place as the one scholar of the Senior Class to Marjorie Leatheo.

Glenn Songer's ability to murder the English language to Russell Stienecker.

Dorcy Daunhauer's reducing secrets to Wayne Helmerich.

Ida Mae Bath's cheerful line of chatter to Ruby Kaiser.

Anita Aufderhar's fondness for the farm to Richard Bretz.

Garvase Muller's reputation as a playboy to John Gray Stewart.

Signed this day of April, 1933, in Huntingburg, Indiana.

Witnesses: I. M. CRAZY, U. R. CRAZY.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Vienna, Austria,
May, 5, 1950.

Dear Catherine:—

I'm so excited I can hardly write! This afternoon I was going through the University of Vienna and who should I chance to meet but Edwin Recker, the eminent scientist, who showed me his newest invention. It works something like television only instead of speaking you concentrate on the name of the person or thing you wish to see and immediately the picture is flashed before your eyes. I was very curious to discover what my classmates of '33 were doing. Of course we know what some of them are doing as there are quite a few who have won world wide recognition. There's Glenn Arensman who holds vast audiences spell-bound by his violin, and Kenneth Brown who has easily taken the place once held by Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby, as a crooner. You must admit that we both have a weakness for listening to Ray and Roy Blemker who now hold the place once belonging to Amos 'n Andy in the radio world. And by the way, did you know that R. F. McDaniel is now quite a well-known director of western pictures in Hollywood? Strange, isn't it when we all thought he'd probably be a poet? Naturally, I know you and Hubertina are secretaries to Kenneth Day, president of the United Cobweb Stock of America. But, to get back to this screen—

The first person I thought of was Glenn Songer ,who did so nobly as class president. The screen told me that he is now a big league baseball player, and that he is living in New York with his wife, formerly Roma Garland. Eunice Hamelman and Ida Mae Bath, it seems, are heads of a quite famous school of Physical Culture in Boston, and Sam Beebe is selling lemonade with Barnum-Bailey's Circus. Pauline Aufderhar is a well known flyer, who has contributed much to furthering aviation, while her cousin, Anita, is married to Sam Faris, who is head of the Farm Bureau in Kansas and is doing a great deal for the farmers in the west. Speaking of farming reminds me that Cecil and Davis Enlow are making their marks as farmers back near the old home town and are quite inseperable. They have never married. Gladys Rohleder is another who has not forsaken Huntingburg and she is still quite happily married, while Lee Lemond, married to Lucille Dearing, lo these many years, is quite a famous criminal lawyer in Chicago. Adolph Frick, I found, acts as interpreter to the immigrants at Ellis Island, while Franklin Mundy's name is dear to the hearts of those who love their food as he is owner of a famous chain of restaurants reaching all over America and Canada, not to mention Europe.

Lorraine Stein and Evelyn DeBruler have sacrificed much as nurses in foreign fields, while Mildred Miller is a math teacher back in the dear old H. H. S. Wilma Brown has married, and is living some place out west, I couldn't tell just where. Ambrose Steltenpohl and Victor Peters are somewhere in Palestine, exploring for the National Geographic Society, and Frederick Limp travels with them as a physician. Odean is married to Herbie, of course we all expected that, while Harold Schmutzler is quite a success as the owner of several chain furniture stores. Mary Louise is also married, but I couldn't discover to whom. She was living in Florida, I believe, and her husband seemed to be quite wealthy. That is all I thought of for the screen to reveal, but I certainly was grateful for its aid.

By the way, while in London last week, I dined at the home of Geneva Struckman, now Lady Moneywell, you know, and while there I met Harold Barth, world's champion billiard player. He told me that Geneva Langebrake is fast becoming a power in the missionary world, and that Kent Patberg is a gigolo, much in demand by the Parisian ladies. While in London I danced at the Savoy to that well known dance orchestra owned by Dorcy Daunhauer and Herman Steltenpohl, and Charles Finke was its leader. For a moment I was so suprised I could hardly dance. Well, to go on with the story, Gervase Muller was the pilot of the passenger plane in which I flew from London to Vienna. I was quite surprised to see him.

I told you, didn't I, that I'm letting Bernice Short do over my apartment while I'm gone? I, as well as many others, find her work as an interior decorator, quite delightful. Well, I believe that takes care of all our old classmates of the class of '33. Who would have thought way back then that we would all be doing what we are today?

As ever,
Alice.

HUNTERS OF THE HARDWOOD

SENIORS WHO HAVE PLAYED THEIR LAST GAMES FOR H. H. S.

Ben Finke was never out jumped at center this year and he showed steady improvement until the end of the year. Ben will be a great loss to the team.

Davis Enlow, although taking basketball in the latter part of his high school career, showed that he had the stuff.

Ike Blemker started the year at forward and was shifted to guard but this did not hinder him in the least. When Ike got started he was hard to stop.

Gruben Day has made All Sectional team for the last two years. He says, "I'll go around my man if it is possible." This motto has netted him many points.

Red Mundy, having but one year on the squad, was a snappy ball handler and also had an eye for the basket.

Windy Songer would talk his man out of making a basket, and then make it himself.

THE BOYS THAT WILL RETURN TO H. H. S. NEXT YEAR

Babe Gasser, the fastest man on the squad, plays a brand of ball that is hard to beat. Babe has one more year on the squad.

Johnny Stimson showed great floor work this season. As he is only a sophomore we will expect plenty from him in the next two years.

Freddy Rauscher will be back next year to show the opposition that all of the Hunters are not as small as they look.

Bob Shurig is the smallest boy on the squad but he showed that he did not take size to be in the game by the way he pulled for the team.

OTHERS ON RESERVE SQUAD

Those who have seen less action and who will return for several years are, Woodrow Brooner, Wilfred Maas, Robert Behrens, Cato Renner, Paul Renner, Sam Ingle and Grant Link.

COACHES AND MANAGER

Coach Bretz, a great coach and a pal of every boy on the squad had his first year in coaching and proved that he has a future that will net him many victories.

Assistant Coach Garrison was a great hand in helping Coach Bretz in any way that he could. He coached his squad to a rather good year, although they did not look so promising at the beginning of the season.

Francis Blessinger, the manager, was always prompt and ready to do what ever he could in helping the squad.

OF THE

HUNTERS OF THE HARDWOOD

Debits		Credits
Nov. 4	Our Hunters opened the season with a bang, taking Dale for an easy victory 41-28.	Nov. 18	The Hunters lost their second invasion in a hard fought battle against Paoli. The game was hotly contested and Paoli emerged the victor by the score of 22-20.
Nov. 11	The Hunter's first invasion was a successful one, defeating Orleans by the score of 24-18.	Dec. 2	The Red Devils of French Lick handed the Hunters their second defeat of the season by giving them a sound trouncing by the largest score of the season 40-22.
Nov. 19	Striving hard for victory, Mount Olympus was turned back by the Hunters by a lop-sided score of 30-16.	Dec. 9	Cannelton scored an upset in defeating the Hunters in an overtime by the score of 25-23.
Nov. 23	The highly touted Jasper Wildcats went down in defeat at the hands of the Hunters, 26-23. Blemker led the Hunters attack with 12 points.	Jan 21	Petersburg tied the honors by defeating the Hunters 24-22. Gasser led with 7 points.
Dec. 16	Reitz Memorial of Evansville was plastered by the score of 24-15. Gasser and Blemker led the Hunters.	Jan. 27	After having a 15-10 lead at the half, the boys were overtaken in the last half to be defeated 27-23 by Tell City.
Dec. 23	The Hunters romped over the Petersburg Indians 37-22. Day led the Hunters with 14 points.	Jan. 14	Hunters lost the Lostoka Tourney to Jasper in the initial game by the score of 32-39. Gasser and Day shone for the Hunters.
Jan. 6	Hunters won a hard fought game from Gibault by the score of 20-15.	Mar. 4	Drawing Jasper for their first game in the sectional, the Hunters were given an equal break but they did not seem to be up to their best form and went down in defeat by the score of 24-28.
Jan. 7	The Hunters soundly trounced Oakland City 37-20.
Jan. 14	West Baden was swept off their feet by the Hunter's rush and were snowed under 39-25.
Jan. 20	The Hunters scored an upset by defeating Jasper Academy by the score of 20-8.
Feb. 3	Boonville was the next victim, bowing before the on-rush of our five 22-16. Gasser seemed to be the main spring.
Feb. 10	The Hunters trounced Owensville 27-17.
Feb. 17	Playing a wonderful game, the Hunters pulled a great surprise in running wild over the strong New Albany team. Classed by almost every one as the underdog before the game, the Hunters went into the game to give all they had in an attempt to emerge victorious. They out-hit, out-smarted, and out-played the Bulldogs to the tune of 26-8.
Feb. 24	Princeton fell before the Hunters' attack 36-20.
Feb. 25	Hunters wind up season by defeating Winslow 40-11.

OUR BASEBALL SQUAD

These boys are the ones who represent our school in the Southern Indiana Baseball League.

Lee Lemond—After the third inning he is unbeatable. Playing his last year.

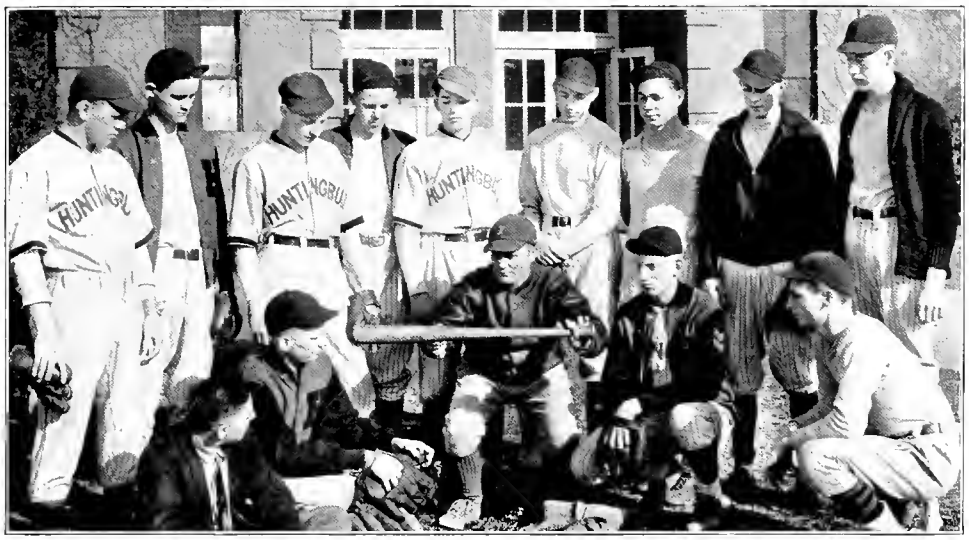
Kenneth Day—If it's down around his knees, he will hit it a mile. Final year.

Ray Blemker—One left hand hitter that can clout that ball. Last year.

Arthur Gasser—He would steal the backstop if it were loose. One year yet.

Franklin Mundy—One good fly hawk that could catch them in his hip pocket. Last year.

Francis Olinger—Talks less and plays harder. Just a Freshman.



Ralph Meyer—A Meyer-ball is a fire ball. Another freshie.

Harold Barth—The man who holds down the hot corner. Last year.

Sam Ingle—He will get that ball in any field. One more year.

Davis Enlow—Last of Murderer's Row. A Senior.

Glenn Songer—No stolen bases on him. Last year.

Fred Rausher—He is a crouch-hitter that's hard to beat. One more year.

Harold Stein—Manager—Old Lightnin! Always on hand, even if a trifle late. A Freshman.

Mr. Wilson—A coach that knows his baseball. Due to his efforts we will have a winner.
